Centennial State Chronicle.

Last Friday's Centennial edition of that excellent paper, the State Chronicle, will be on sale at Pemberton's Book Store during this week.

Centennial Badges.

Beautiful badges—a very appropriate souvenir of the Centennial Celebration—can be obtained at Huske's Hardware Store and at the drug stores. Procure one to carry home to your children.

The Consecration Meeting.

Mr. W. P. Fife was so unwell last Sunday that he was unable to lead in the Consecration meeting for men at the Hay Street Methodist Episcopal Church at 3 p. m., and his place was taken by Mr. Harley, General Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Hymen on the Tripod.

Miss Mamie L. Hatchett, former editor of the Orphan's Friend, and Albert Fairbrother, editor of the Lincoln (Neb.) Call, were married at Henderson on the 5th.

The Nebraska editor has Call-ed to his side on life's journey a most charming Friend; treat her Fair-brother, and you need not fear her little Hatchett, though you may occasionally require the discipline of the broomstick.

The Illness of Mr. Davis.

The news of the illness of ex-President Davis at New Orleans, published in another column, will temper the rejoicings of the Centennial Celebration with deep solmess. May God bend a merciful ear to the fervent prayers of the revered Chaplain next Thursday, invoking Divine blessing for the perpetuity of civil liberty and the prolongation of a life so dear to the Southern people.

Centennial Ball and German.

The managers of the Centennial Ball and German find it absolutely necessary to require all persons desiring admittance to those entertainments to present their tickets at the entrance. The doorkeepers will be instructed to pass no one unprovided with a ticket, and attention to this matter will save inconvenience and perhaps mortification. No charge will be made in the case of those who expect to be only spectators, but a ticket will in all cases be requisite to admission.

A Graceful Tribute.

Cabarrus county sends us the following greeting, to touch our hearts deeply by the fervor of its patriotism, its warmth of sentiment and gracefulness of expression: Fayetteville:

As my golden greeting I send you, for the great Centennial which you will celebrate next week, my certified check for one hundred dollars enclosed.

My children lovingly remember you as the place of my birth; they rejoice in the historic glory of your past; they crown your growing prosperity with their affectionate blessings; they fondly cherish all the bonds that have bound and now bind us together, and they heartily God-speed you to a long and glorious future.

Nov. 15, '89. CABARRUS COUNTY.

Fayetteville accepts with full heart the offering so beautifully tendered, and, even more than the "golden greeting," will hail with pleasure the presence of the Cabarrus people here this week. To Col. Paul B. Means, of Concord, we feel especially indebted for the warm interest which he has manifested in the Centennial Celebration throughout.

The Centennial Police.

Capt. Jas. D. McNeill, Supt. of Police, has perfected all his arrangements for the preservation of law and order during the next three days, and we may rely on his efficiency, prudence and resolution to insure the peace and quiet which will do no discredit to a community of good citizens. Our neighbors have met his application for police assistance in a very friendly spirit, and have responded as follows: Wilmington sends a captain and 4 officers; Charlotte, a captain and 3 officers; Goldsboro, chief and 2 officers; Durham, 3 officers; Raleigh, 2 officers.

In addition to this, Capt. McNeill will increase the local force by 15 men.

Will be Welcomed With Delight.

There will not be one among the many thousands attending the Centennial Celebration who will fail to greet with a warm heart and a ringing cheer Z. B. Vance, the junior United States Senator of North Carolina. The ex-Confederate Veterans will flock about him with affection, remembering his unswerving devotion in their behalf as the "War Governor" of the South; the rank and file of the great "unterrified" Democracy will greet with enthusiasm this great leader in their many hard-fought battles and invincible advocate of the principles of good government; North Carolinians will welcome him whose broad and enlightened statesmanship makes him one of the first men of his time—and all will throng about him eagerly to catch the eloquent words which fall from his lips.

Do the Best You Can.

We have no advice to proffer to our merchants on this Centennial occasion, for they understand the requirements of their business far better than we possibly can; but we feel warranted in making a request that, as far as possible, they give their employes an opportunity of participating in exercises which we are safe in saying that they will never have a chance of seeing again. Their labors have been faithful and continued—both male and female—and they certainly deserve the recreation of these three days. Besides, the services of the young men will be absolutely essential in paying seemly attention to visitors in the city—especially young lady guests. We hope that every point will be strained to give them as much leisure as possible.

Everything Auspicious.

Everything now points to a splendid success in the Centennial Celebration. The interest in the next three days is all-absorbing, and the whole town is agog with pleasing anticipation and alert with preparation; flags and bunting are everywhere kissing the winds, and flashing in the sunshine; side-show tents are dotting the vacant lots on the side streets, and the merry-go-round, with the discordant "squedunk," attracts the loitering schoolboy; fine stock whirls along the thoroughfares, and stalwart fellows of the "horse horsey" and the "turf turfey" lounge about the public places; the hotels, boarding-places and restaurants have their metaphorical sleeves rolled up, aprons girded on, and ladle in hand, to meet the rush of the hungry. Since last Friday incoming travel has steadily increased, and the town is gradually filling up. Last Saturday was a gloomy, lowering day, followed by a drenching rain for hours on Sunday; but, as if Providence had smiles for our great historic event, Monday basked under warm skies and the glad sunglight.

It is the State's Great Day.

The proposition that Raleigh take a general holiday on next Thursday, and turn out to the Fayetteville Centennial, seems to meet with favor on all sides. Everybody wants to go, and it will be in order for our business men to act in concert and let everybody off to enjoy the trip.—News and Observer.

It is eminently proper that every city, town, hamlet, county and township throughout North Carolina be well-represented here to-morrow, Thursday and Friday. While Fayetteville blushingly wears her honors as furnishing the stage for the imposing ceremonies of the Centennial Celebration, its historical significance is the property of the State—a matter of deep and engrossing interest to every citizen of the commonwealth.

Besides, a general participation in these pleasant exercises will furnish an occasion coming but once in an ordinary lifetime for a reunion of friends separated by the inevitable vicissitudes of life, the interchange and comparison of thought and feeling between communities, and the exercise of a spirit of generous emulation in everything which brings those communities into prominence. Come, friends, and jubilate with us!

The Centennial Observer.

The Centennial edition of the OBSERVER, issued on Thursday of next week, 28th inst., will be a splendid twelve-page paper; handsomely illustrated; complete and accurate in its report of all the incidents of the Centennial Celebration and the Cumberland Fair; containing in full the premium list of the exhibition; presenting the text of Senator Ransom's matchless Centennial oration; picturing the Grand Ball in all the splendor of its appointments, the charms of fair women and the elegance of their costumes; pithily portraying the personalities of prominent visitors; faithfully recording each day's races, etc., etc. It will be a succinct chronicle of a great epoch with all its surroundings, a convenient vade mecum of an extraordinary historical event, which will be read with absorbing interest both by those who have participated in the ceremonies incident thereto and thousands throughout North Carolina and the whole country whose eyes will be turned toward Fayetteville on the 21st inst. with unusual interest.

All times are good times for such a purpose, but the present is an especially opportune time for subscribing to the OBSERVER; but visitors not prepared or disposed to do this can have copies of the Centennial edition sent postpaid to their addresses next week by leaving their names, with 10 cents per copy, at the OBSERVER office on Green street, at the OBSERVER reporter's desk out on the Fair Grounds, or at the desks of the hotels of the city.

Highsmith—White.

In the vicinity of Roseboro, on the 14th inst., Dr. J. F. Highsmith was united in marriage to Miss Mamie L. White, daughter of the late Murdoch White, Rev. W. B. Oliver, of the Baptist Church of this city, officiating at the ceremony.

The attendants were:

C. D. Sedberry,	Miss M. E. Highsmith.
J. C. Robinson,	" L. M. Turlington.
L. M. White,	" Lizzie Draughon.
A. F. Howard,	" G. Highsmith.
Jas. W. White,	" Havens Cherry.
Dr. J. H. Marsh,	" Minnie D. White.
Marion Butler,	" R. B. Culbreth.

The wedded pair were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts, in the enjoyment of which and the happy life into which they been just ushered they are accompanied by the OBSERVER'S most friendly wishes.

"Them's Our Sentiments."

There are some of our patrons located in different parts of the country who go booming along month after month and year after year, greeted by our faithful messenger, the OBSERVER, each week, without seeming ever to have been struck solidly by the idea that a little money was occasionally needed to grease the machinery in getting out a paper. It came into our mind to suggest to them that it might be better to square up their arrearages during their visit to this Centennial rather than wait for the next Centennial, as the currency might be changed before that time, or we might possibly be dead; but, just at the moment of taking pen in hand, the following, from the Edgefield (S. C.) Advertiser, met our eye, which measurably expresses our sentiments:

Dear, darling delinquent! Our precious subscriber in arrears! You are so shy! Do you think we have sold out and gone? No, little sugar-plum, we could not get away if we wanted to. We are still at the same old stand dishing out the Advertiser on sweet promises and bright expectations. They make an excellent diet, darling, with a little wine pudding, flavored with a word of encouragement to serve as a dessert. We are waiting and watching for thee, our turtle dove. We long to hear thy gentle footstep on the stairway below, and hear the silver ring of the happy dollar within our office. Dear one, we feel unusually sad and lonely without you. Now, little pie-crust, will you come? Do we hear you answer in a voice so sweet and beguiling, "I'm coming," or is it only the winds that around our office roar? We pause for further developments.

Personal Pencilings.

Mr. Ralph Fuller, of Durham, is among the Centennial visitors.

Mrs. Joe Person, of the celebrated Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, is in the city.

Mrs. Pell, of Wilson, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Shepherd, on Haymount.

Glad to see Maj. T. D. Love and Capt. J. H. Currie, of Wilmington, in the city.

Mr. J. W. Fuller, of Shandon, was shaking hands with his friends here last Saturday.

Miss Hallie Hall is paying a visit to the family of Mr. W. W. Huske on Haymount.

Mr. Leighton Huske arrived last Saturday, to participate in the Centennial entertainment.

Miss Joanna Costin, now of St. Mary's School, Raleigh, is at home during Centennial week.

Miss May Broadfoot, a pupil of Salem Female Academy, is at home to enjoy the three Centennial days.

Mr. John D. McDuffie and family, of Georgia, are in the city for a few days visiting friends and relatives.

Col. F. A. Olds, Quarter-Master-General of the North Carolina State Guard is in the city, pitching tents for the soldier boys during the Centennial.

Mrs. B. Fuller, of Durham, is warmly greeted by her many Fayetteville friends; she is the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Huske, on Dick street.

Col. Peter Mallett, of New York City, is visiting friends and relatives here—looking, we are glad to see, remarkably well. The recent deaths of Drs. W. P. and A. F. Mallett leave him the only surviving brother of that immediate family.

☞ Persons entertaining Centennial visitors are requested to furnish a note thereof for the Centennial issue for the information of other friends.

Resolutions of Thanks and Appreciation.

The following, appreciative of the generous co-operation by other communities in the Fayetteville Centennial, was passed at yesterday's meeting of the Centennial Committees:

At the closing meeting of the General Committee of Arrangements for the Centennial exercises this day held, the undersigned were appointed a special committee to acknowledge appreciation of and return their thanks for the generous and patriotic spirit displayed by the commercial boards of our sister cities—Wilmington, Raleigh, &c., in suspending business for two days to enable themselves and their employes to participate in the Centennial festivities. This we most cheerfully and cordially do and further add that we deem it an example well worthy of imitation by all business houses and associations, and especially those nearer home, and urgently request them to do so.

Services at St. Thomas's Church.

There will be Divine services at St. Thomas's Episcopal Church on Hybart Hill, next Sunday at 11 A. M., by Rev. Dr. J. C. Huske.

In addition to these regular offerings by the Agricultural Society, private purses on favorite horses may be expected, and the jockeys will have something well worth contending for. We are warm advocates of good racing, as not only offering great attractions to large gatherings of this kind but as forming a great inducement to improvements in the breeding of stock.

The Soldiers' Home.

The Ladies' Memorial Association of this city will have a number of boxes at different points on the fair grounds and about the town during the Centennial, for the purpose of receiving contributions for the Confederate Soldiers' Home. It is needless for us to commend this act on their parts, and the object sought to be obtained. Let the response be hearty and generous, proportioned to the patriotic feelings which the occasion should evoke.

Worthy of Commendation.

A few days ago Mr. W. H. Downing had in town a wagon-load of as fine seed corn in the shuck as one ever sees, which has been stored with Mr. S. G. Ayer, on Person street. Best of all, Mr. McCaskill, one of Mr. Downing's neighbors, says that the latter harvested this season about 3,000 bushels of this beautiful corn—as fine a crop as ever was grown in Cumberland county. It was raised on comparatively new land on the east side of Cape Fear River, purchased within the past year or two from Mr. J. E. Elliott.

This is the kind of news item which it gives us pleasure to present to our readers—an indication of thrift and independence in farming which should be considered worthy of emulation by every man who turns the soil or follows the plow. He who fills his barn and smoke-house with the fruits of his own labor may live and die a poor man in the world's estimate of prosperity, but he need never have the burden of a mortgage on his homestead, or have cause to deprecate the sour looks of his merchant when business brings him to town.

Teachers' State Certificates.

From the examination by Prof. Alderman last week of teachers making application for his three years' State certificate, three came out successfully: Mrs. S. P. Bryan and Messrs. E. R. McKethan and D. P. McDonald. Prof. Alderman states that many others of the applicants evinced bright minds, admirable qualifications and excellent training, but lacked the requisite familiarity in theory and practice of teaching. We are glad to know that Prof. Alderman was altogether as much pleased with the members of this institute as they were with its president, and considered their standing good, especially considering the fact that this was the first county institute held.

The three successful contestants abovenamed have much upon which to congratulate themselves. The examination included almost a full curriculum of English classics and rudiments, besides being conducted most rigidly and thoroughly. Messrs. McKethan and McDonald have vindicated their claim to a high place as instructors, while Mrs. Bryan's literary culture, scholarly attainments and remarkable fitness as a teacher were so well known to many of us that we regarded her securing a certificate as only a consequence of her application.

Prof. Alderman expressed his hearty thanks to Mr. H. McD. Robinson, County Superintendent of Public Instruction, for his zealous and effective work in arousing and sustaining a deep and general interest in the Institute.

DIED.

HAYWOOD.—On the 12th inst., at his home in this county, Mr. W. J. D. HAYWOOD, in his 40th year.

Mr. Haywood was a native of Montgomery County, but moved to Cumberland in early manhood, where he followed the business of farming successfully. He was an admirable citizen in every respect, and had the respect and confidence of all who knew him. He will be greatly missed in his community, especially by the poor and unfortunate, to whom he was a friend indeed. Mr. Haywood leaves a widow and several children. He was the only child of a widowed mother, who survives him.

JUDGE SHEPHERD'S OPINION.

WASHINGTON, N. C., June 13, 1886.

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy has been used by a member of my family, and the result has been very beneficial. I believe it to be a good medicine. JAS. E. SHEPHERD.

Mrs. Brown, the case alluded to in Judge Shepherd's testimonial, says:

WASHINGTON, N. C., July 20, 1886.

It is with pleasure I add my grateful testimony to the hosts of witnesses who have attested the virtues of Mrs. Joe Person's great Remedy. After years of debility and suffering, it has proven to me the best of tonics and blood purifiers. An obstinate, irritable ulcer on my ankle, from which I suffered agony for years, seems to have healed entirely and healthfully under its purifying effects, and my general health has greatly improved.

MRS. S. T. BROWN.

DR. J. H. MCADEN'S OPINION.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 15, 1889.

I consider Mrs Joe Person's Remedy the finest blood purifier that is on the market today. J. H. MCADEN.

DR. THOS. HILL'S OPINION.

GOLDSBORO, N. C., Oct. 23, 1889.

Mrs. Joe Person, Madam:

About April, 1887, I treated Sam Privett, a lad about 15 years of age, for scrofula, affecting the glands of the neck. In spite of all treatment they grew from bad to worse, finally suppurating and becoming running sores. In the latter part of that year you were in Goldsboro, saw the boy and proposed to treat him. I had done all that I could for him, and considered his chances for life very small and told you so, and that if you would benefit him with your Remedy, I would give you a certificate of that fact. That you have done your part the boy is now a living witness, and I shall not hesitate to furnish your Remedy in any similar case I may be called on to treat.

THOS. HILL, M. D.

REV. C. J. GIBSON, D. D.,

Minister of the Episcopal Church, Petersburg, Va., says: I have used Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy in my own family, and it gives me pleasure to say it has proved a valuable Tonic and Purifier of the Blood, and, if thoroughly tested, I think will remove many cutaneous disorders.

NEWS AND COMMENT.

CENTENNIAL! Centennial!! Centennial!!!

CENTENNIAL to-morrow!

CENTENNIAL Thursday!

CENTENNIAL Friday!

EVERYBODY should come to the Centennial!

LET every man who is proud of the glorious deeds of the illustrious sires of a century ago attend the great Constitutional Centennial Celebration here this week.

THE opening of Congress will witness the biggest kind of a triangular fight between New York, Chicago and St. Louis for the World's Fair in 1892. They have plenty of money, are ambitious, and, besides, it is a prize worth struggling for.

SOME dissatisfaction is now manifested over the personnel of the faculty of the State Agricultural and Mechanical College at Raleigh, the Baptist denomination having been apparently slighted in the selections. Any invidious distinctions should by all means have been avoided, but doubtless the religious belief of the professors was not thought of (so they were christian believers) when they were chosen.

"Gen. Mahone, in company with Senator D. M. Cameron and other prominent politicians of the North, left last evening for North Carolina, where, it is said, they have gone to look after some property in which they are largely interested."

Oh, Lord! Call a convention of the people, and amend the Constitution; assemble the Legislature, Gov. Fowle, and let the State buy "the property" quick! The Virginia "Boss" might take a notion to settle here!

GOLD mines in Montgomery county, from recent published accounts, part of which will be found in another column in this issue of the OBSERVER, are not at all bad property. The "find" of the precious metal seems almost to equal that of the feverish and excitable days of '49 in California [By the way, there are some of our best citizens, still living and active in their business and callings, who were among the pioneers to the Golden Coast 40 years ago; they didn't acquire much gold, but they learned to make mighty good pies—and sold them, too]. The Carolina Watchman has taken pains to send a reliable reporter to Montgomery county, for the purpose of sifting the facts of the gold discovery, and that paper finds the news in no respect exaggerated.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL WANNAMAKER gave Senator WADE HAMPTON assurance that no change should be made in the postoffice at Columbia, S. C., until after February, 1890, and only a few days afterwards acted in a way very unbecoming the Superintendent of the Philadelphia Sunday School. In plain words, he made an appointment to the Columbia postoffice, and lied to the South Carolina Senator. The latter addresses to him an open letter which has found its way into print, in which the "Cheap John" shop-keeping Postmaster-General is clawed, and yanked about, and torn up as severely and completely as MARK TWAIN boasted he served his agent, HARRIS:—you have seen a spider step on a red-hot gridiron, look exceedingly pained and astonished for an instant, and then shrivel up.

A VERY naughty and wrathy newspaper out West wants to know what the South has to do with the Democratic victories in Iowa and Ohio, and intimates that it is none of our "picnic," any way. There is doubtless a great difference, in some respects, between a Northern or Western and a Southern Democrat; but, all the same, we rejoice with our political brethren in their recent victory, and expect to take no insignificant hand in helping to run this government. It was either INGALLS or ZACH CHANDLER who described with a good deal of lachrymose humor the attitude of the Southern people during the Reconstruction after the war. The victorious North welcomed them back as the Prodigal Son, with all the accompaniments of feast and "fatted calf," but they hadn't more than sat down to table before they began to hump themselves, and declare that it was their calf after all; and when the singing and dancing commenced afterwards, it wasn't any time before the Confederate Brigadiers (in Congress) were calling out the figures. That's the kind of people we are.

"IT is now confidently stated by advanced thinkers, as a result of the recent extraordinary progress in biological discovery, that almost all disease, excepting, of course, that resulting from injuries and transmitted weaknesses of organs, is preventable, since it is the result of the attacks of lower forms of life upon us." But, for all that, when the time comes we've just got to go. Neither the "elixir of life" nor the tabulated "laws of health" avail against the irrefragable meshes of the parcæ. So it has ever been, and so it will ever be:—keep your head cool, your feet dry, your stomach in good order, your brain clear and your heart pure—and trust to God for the rest; so that—

"When thy summons comes to join
The innumerable caravan that moves to that mysterious realm
Where each shall take his chamber in the silent halls of death,
Thou go not like the quarry-slave at night,
Scourged to his dungeon;
But, sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust,
Approach thy grave
Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him,
And lies down to pleasant dreams."

They will also issue a manual upon the cultivation of tobacco for distribution.

A Great Find.

Carolina Watchman.]

Gold represents concentrated wealth; hence the finding of large quantities of the precious metal is the best news in a purely worldly sense.

Mr. Carter, a gentleman living in Montgomery county, came to Salisbury last week, and reported most wonderful stories of a big find of gold near his home, saying that over a bushel had been taken out in the last few weeks. The statement seemed so fabulous that before giving it to the world we concluded to send a representative down to the place (it being only thirty-five miles), and find out the facts, which are as follows, and which we can safely vouch for:

The discovery was made on piece of land controlled by Mr. P. C. Saunders, but which belonged to a brother in Texas. The discovery was made accidentally by a young man who was out turkey hunting, and work was at once begun in washing the surface. While this was being done three little stringers or veins were uncovered which were nearly all gold. The find was kept quiet as long as possible, but when it became generally known the brother was telegraphed for, and he replied to stop the work at once until his arrival. Our representative happened on the ground at a very inopportune time, being only a few hours after the hands had been ordered to stop work, and for this reason could not see the work in progress: but from interviews had with the men, and from what he saw, he does not hesitate in saying that Mr. Carter's statement in regard to the bushel was correct.

About half of this gold was taken out of the top surface and the remainder from three parallel stringers or veins about eight feet apart and about one-half inch in thickness. Two of these veins have been sunk to the depth of about twenty feet, while the other has a depth of only a few feet.

The people in the neighborhood are all very much excited over the find, and very naturally so. They now talk of gold by the pound, while heretofore it was only by the grain.

Our representative was told by several parties, whom he knew and had confidence in, that on the afternoon of the last day they worked one man took out with only a pick, and in a very short time, probably two hours, over 2,000 pennyweight of gold; that two young men, Morris and Cornelson, washed out in a day and a half over ten and one-half pounds of gold; that one man got permission to work on the tailings, and rocked out 42 pennyweights in three rockerfuls, and was then stopped. Many other stories of a like kind were told, which for lack of space we omit. Our representative, who is a practical miner, offered $10 for the privilege of working two hours, but was asked $50 for that privilege.

All this was learned on the ground, and we are satisfied that it is as correct as is possible to get at the facts.

The property is situated in a gold-bearing belt, extending many miles, in which large quantities of gold have been found in the creeks and gulches, and there are thousands of places in the neighborhood where the outside indications are better for gold than where this was found.

Other late finds our representative heard of in the same neighborhood, notably of which were those of a darkey who alone took out over $1,000 in less than two weeks, and that of the Nall land, on which big finds had been made, one nugget weighing over a pound—all within the past month.

GRAPHITE MINING.

Mr. Geo. Emerick, of Philadelphia, has visited the graphite deposits of Wake county, and will in all probability open them in a short time for the purpose of supplying the market with this material. The graphite beds are extensive, and the material in parts of the mass is first grade. As long ago as 1825, Prof. Olmstead, at that time State Geologist, reported upon the extent and value of this deposit, and his report has been fully verified by subsequent exploration.

The feature of this enterprise, which so pleases the Watchman, is that it is to be actual work, mining for legitimate results, and in no sense speculation. Speculative operations by both American and foreign companies have done North Carolina vastly more harm than good. This paper has always sought to encourage the one and expose the other.

Chief Justice, W. N. H. Smith.

Charlotte Chronicle.]

Chief Justice Smith was born in Murfreesboro, Hertford county, 77 years ago. He graduated at Yale at 22 years of age and also took the law course. He was one of the counsel to defend ex-Governor Holden, during his impeachment for high crimes and misdemeanors. He was in politics a Whig. During the entire war he was a member of the Confederate Congress.

CHIEF JUSTICE FOR 11 YEARS.

He has been Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina for 11 years, being appointed by Gov. Vance to the position upon the death of Chief Justice Pearson.

THE BAR OF CHARLOTTE.

A Chronicle reporter talked with some prominent men in the Charlotte bar about the death of the great Jurist—among others, Judge Bynum, Col. H. C. Jones, C. W. Tillett, Platt D. Walker, Capt. George F. Bason and Col. Jno E. Brown. They heard the announcement of the death of Judge Smith with deep regret and sorrow.

HE MIGHT HAVE BEEN SPEAKER.

Col. H. C. Jones, was reminded of the fact that between the years of 1859-60, while Whigs held the balance of power in the Federal Congress, Judge Smith only missed being elected Speaker of the House by one vote.

PIG IRON KELLY'S PROPOSITION REJECTED.

At the time alluded to, the House was 5 weeks in organizing. W. N. H. Smith was a candidate for the Speakership, and while the vote was being taken, before it was announced, "Pig Iron" Kelly, of Pennsylvania, walked over to Smith's seat, and asked him if he would pledge himself to make the Ways and Means Committee protective. Mr. Smith, highly to his credit, refused to pledge himself, when Kelly had his vote, which he had cast for Smith, changed, and Pennington, of New Jersey, was elected.

Famous Women.

It is a significant fact that most of the women who have achieved fame in art, literature or "affairs" have enjoyed vigorous health. This shows that the mind is never capable of the severe and continued application necessary to creative work, unless the body is at its best. The woman who aspires to fill an exalted place among her associates must be free from nervous debility and female weaknesses. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will banish these, and it is warranted to restore those functional harmonies which are indispensable to health. As a specific for all those chronic weaknesses and ailments peculiar to women, it is unequalled.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

The World Moves!

Get Up and Ride!!

When the Big Guns in the Dry Goods trade, who are supposed to buy their goods on long time, insist on selling everything to everybody for strict cash, we think it is time for us heathen, who have to pay cash and cash only for our goods before we can ever see them, to follow in their illustrious footsteps.

It is a well-known fact that all dealers in Grain are compelled by the commercial law of the times to pay for their supplies before they can get them, however much such dealers may be worth, or however they may be.

We have decided therefore to adopt the same rule in selling that we have to abide by in buying. In our case, this should always have been the rule. The unbusiness-like methods of others being our only excuse for wrong-doing, we trust that all of our patrons will "catch on" to the "new departure," and show their appreciation of our endeavors in the past to please them, by continuing to give us their patronage.

Recollect that we sell you

Meal and Feed

AT THE

ACTUAL COST

of the unground material.

We also hold that to endeavor to do a

Hand to Hand Cash Transaction with every purchase is not only impracticable but also unbusiness-like, and we wish it distinctly understood that accounts with parties of a known place of business, that are always promptly paid on presentation without any foolishness, is in our opinion cash.

Compound Interest on a Quarter.

Washington Capital.]

About thirty-five years ago a little boy had given a quarter of a dollar for spending money. As he walked down the street, he happened to meet with an older boy and showed him the money, saying as he did so, "see what my good papa gave me to spend." The older boy knocked it out of the little fellow's hand, snatched it up and ran away with it. The little boy was almost heart-broken, but when he went home crying and told about it his mother gave him another quarter. This mollified him, but he never forgave that older boy. The war came on, and the older boy was given a commission in the army, while the little one, who was too young to enlist, remained at home.

After the war the younger boy became a clerk in the War Department. Within the past fifteen years the older boy, who had become a lawyer and an orator, announced himself as a candidate for the United States Senate, and he had a large following. It looked as though he might be elected. But one morning the newspapers in many portions of the country, and especially those of his own State, published a statement to the effect that the candidate had been dismissed from the army for cowardice and other questionable conduct. The lawyer denied the charge, and extracts from the records of the War Department were published, showing that the charge was true. He was not elected. After his defeat was accomplished he received a letter, postmarked Washington, D. C., of which the following is an exact copy: "Do you remember the day you outraged a little boy's feelings, and almost broke his heart by stealing a quarter from him? That deed cost you a seat in the Senate."

Look Out for Your Water-Color Paintings.

[From London Public Opinion.]

Mr. J. J. Hissey, of Raven's Moat, Eastbourne, writes: "Now that the electric light is being generally introduced into our houses, it may be well to caution those possessing valuable water-color paintings against placing the electric lamps in close proximity to their pictures, as I have found, after three years' experince of the electric (incandescent) light in my own house, that, so placed, the new illuminant is sufficiently powerful to cause some of the more delicate pigments to fade to a greater or lesser degree. Water-colors that are safe in diffused daylight are certainly not always so when exposed night after night, for many hours, to the active white light of electricity close at hand."

Great Little Men.

Some of the greatest men that ever lived were of small stature and insignificant appearance. The reader will readily recall many instances. Very small are Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, but they are more effective than the huge, old-fashioned pills which are so difficult to swallow and so harsh in their action. The "Pellets" are gentle and never cause constipation. Liver, stomach and bowel derangements they have no equal.

Sharks have been caught in the Gulf of California at a depth of 1400 feet.

The Common Lot.

There is a place no love can reach,
There is a time no voice can teach,
There is a chain no power can break,
There is a sleep no sound can wake.

Sooner or later that time will arrive, that place will wait for your coming, that chain must bind you in helpless death, that sleep must fall on your senses. But thousands every year go untimely to their fate, and thousands more lengthen out their days by heedful, timely care. For the failing strength, the weakening organs, the wasting blood, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a wonderful restorative and a prolonger of strength and life. It purifies the blood and invigorates the system, thereby fortifying it against disease. Of druggists.

THE DEATH OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE.

The death of W. N. H. Smith, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina closes a long life which, without being brilliant or even marked by trancendent abilities, has been distinguished by important services to his people and country.

A Whig in politics at a time when that once great party wielded immense power in national and State affairs, he was a leader without being an office-seeker, and was a trusted adviser in shaping that policy which led to the magnificent successes of the old-line Whigs. His earnestness and spotless integrity, combined with polished address and winning courtesy, and enforced by varied attainments and a vast fund of information, easily impressed his associates, and commanded popular esteem and confidence—of which no better illustration can be furnished than the fact that during his first term of service in the Federal Congress he failed of the Speakership by one vote only, "Pig Iron Kelly," of Pennsylvania, changing his vote before the call of the roll was completed to Pennington, of New Jersey. He served in the Confederate Congress throughout the war, and it is a part of the history of that body that the counsel or none in either house was more eagerly sought in the great crises of that struggling government than that of W. H. N. Smith and Geo. Davis.

On the bench it is superfluous to say that he was an upright judge, but he was besides a laborious student and an indefatigable worker, his judicial work evincing the culture of the scholar and the acumen of the finished lawyer.

On Saturday last Gov. Fowle appointed Asociate Justice Merrimon to the Chief Justiceship, Judge Walter Clarke to a place on the Supreme Court bench, and Mr. Spier Whitaker Superior Court Judge in place of Judge Clarke.

THE SOLDIERS' HOME.

We once again earnestly appeal to all participants in the Centennial Celebration to remember the effort which will be made by the Ladies' Memorial Association this week in behalf of the Home for ex-Confederate North Carolina soldiers. Let each one consent to deny himself some form of entertainment or amusement that he may donate a small sum to the promotion of this most worthy object. Boxes, as we have before stated, will be located at convenient points to receive these contributions, and nothing would be a more fitting outcome of the patriotic feelings evoked by this unusual occasion than a generous and substantial evidence that those whose hearts swell with pride in the contemplation of their country's greatness are not without gratitude to the men whose self-sacrificing services have illuminated the pages of its history.

Mrs. Thos. H. Sutton, President of the Memorial Association, under whose supervision these contribution boxes have been prepared, has had the warm feelings of her heart especially aroused to effort in this matter by ocular proof of the pressing need of a State Soldiers' Home—a visit to a similar institution at Richmond, Va., having shown her six North Carolina soldiers subsisting on the bounty of the generous "Old Dominion." A bill drawn up by Hon. Thos. H. Sutton, and passed at the last session of the General Assembly, appropriated a sum sufficient to cover the maintenance of these surviving but helpless soldiers; but the fact that even one of those who deserve so much of us has been left to the care of strangers speaks strongly to us to shelter them and provide for them within our own borders.

IT IS TRUE, TOO.

Several of our friends and subscribers have dropped in to see us during the past week, and all say that the Herald for the last month has been the best paper ever published in Johnston County. Thanks, friends, we shall strive to improve the paper with each issue.—Smithfield Herald.

They might have added that the Herald is one of the best country newspapers published anywhere—we never fail to look for it with interest among the batches of exchanges which the postoffice turns out to us.

The people of Johnston county should make their appreciation serviceable and substantial by giving to the Herald such a support as will guarantee its permanent establishment in their midst, and will increase the capacity for usefulness of its publishers by assuring to them a fair equivalent for their labors.

Some few realize the great benefit of a well-conducted paper in its section, but the large majority regard it with an indifference which is inexcusable. Its typographic make-up may be crude, its presswork bad, its editorials without the polish of long journalistic training; but if its publisher is honest and loves his people (as he nearly always is and does), his weekly homely sheet is worth to his town and county more than all the foreign publications with which the mails can flood them He is the sympathizing chronicler of the joys and sorrows of his people, their defender against wrongs and abuses, their counselor against insidious evils, their friend in educational advancement and the promoter of their material prosperity. Considering his facilities therefor, and the opportunities which he has enjoyed for equipping himself for his profession, the country editor does an immense amount of effective work, which is received as a matter of course, while his remarkably few sins of commission and omission are visited with unrelenting severity. His is almost invariably a hard life and a thankless, but it is rarely the case that he is not remembered with affectionate respect after starvation or death from natural causes has removed him.

THE MARINE BAND.

The United States Marine Band left Washington City this morning at 7 o'clock by special train, and will reach Fayetteville to-night at 9 o'clock by the Wilson Short-Cut R. R. They will attract much attention on the route, and be received with enthusiasm here.

Hampton on Wannamaker.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 12.—B. F. Clayton, of this city, was two weeks ago appointed postmaster for Columbia, vice Wade Hampton Gibbes, a gentleman of high standing in the State. Mr. Clayton is an "independent." Postmaster-General Wannamaker had promised not to remove Mr. Gibbes until his term expired. The following letter in relation to Mr. Gibbes' removal from Senator Wade Hampton, now hunting on his plantation in Mississippi, will be published in the News and Courier to morrow. Senator Hampton writes Mr. Wannamaker as probably no Postmaster-General of the United States was ever written to before:

GLENN ALLEN, Miss., Nov. 8, '89.

To Hon. John Wannamaker:

SIR:—The inclosed extract from a South Carolina paper has caused me great surprise. Perhaps you may remember, if your memory is not treacherous, your assurance to me a few days ago that Mr. Gibbes should not be removed until the expiration of his term in February next. Not only did you do this, but you voluntarily assured me that inasmuch as Columbia was my postoffice you would, when a successor to Mr. Gibbes was to be appointed, consult me.

It is a matter of small importance to me who takes the place of Mr. Gibbes, but as I informed him in passing through Columbia of the promise you had made, you may perhaps understand how your action has placed me in a false position. But it is fortunate for me that Mr. Gibbes will know that I at least told him the truth, though I was grievously deceived in believing what was said to me. I shall know better in future what reliance to place on statements emanating from the same source.

The newspapers state that besides managing the great Department over which you preside you are running a Sunday school in Philadelphia, and it occurs to me that you might with profit to yourself select as the most appropriate subject of a lecture to your pupils the instructive story of Ananias and Sapphira. This would give you a fine field for your eloquence in explaining to your young charges the importance of confining themselves to the truth—except when some fancied advantage might be obtained over a political opponent. I am your obedient servant,

WADE HAMPTON.

Brazil's Revolution.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—But little further information has been received here concerning the revolution in Rio de Janeiro. A dispatch received this morning states that the Minister of Marine was not killed as reported yesterday, but that he was shot and seriously wounded by the rebel soldiers. Another dispatch says that the question as to the nature of the future government will be submitted to the plebiscite.

Later dispatches from Rio de Janeiro reports that a republic has been proclaimed, with Senor de Fouses as President. The imperial ministers have been placed under arrest and are kept in close confinement. The provisional government has guaranteed protection to the members of the imperial family. The Emperor is at his summer palace at Petropolis, twenty-five miles north of Rio de Janeiro. All business in the city is suspended, but there is no danger to life or property. Brazilian securities fell 3 on the London Stock Exchange to-day.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A. H. Alden, Secretary of the New York Commercial Company (limited), states that he has received a cable dispatch from the London correspondents of his company as follows: "Brazilian republic probable; exchange declining; peaceful settlement likely."

The London correspondents of the New York Commercial Company (limited) are friends of the Rothschilds, who are bankers of the Brazilian government. The following telegram from John Matthews & Co., of Rio de Janeiro, has been received by L. W. Minford & Co., of New York: "Revolution in Brazil, army and navy combined." Mr. Ellis, of Rio de Janeiro, who is now in New York, received from his firm a dispatch stating that the republic had been proclaimed.

The annual importation of Brazilian coffee into the United States amounts to $60,000,000; rubber $16,000,000; sugar $60,000,000, and hides $30,000,000. Half of the coffee consumed in the United States comes from Brazil, thirteen-sixteenths of the rubber, one-tenth of the sugar and a small percentage of the hides come from there.

The only news of any definite character received at the Brazilian legation here about the revolution in Brazil is the following telegram from a reliable source in London: "The Brazilian republic is probable. A peaceful settlement is likely."

Oxford Orphan Asylum.

OXFORD, N. C., Nov. 8, 1889.

My Dear Brother:

Hitherto the Oxford Orphan Asylum has depended largely upon the Thanksgiving Offerings of the different denominations of Christians of North Carolina to tide us over the Winter months. But now the Baptist, Episcopal and Presbyterian Churches all have Orphanages of their own, and their Thanksgiving collections will, of course, go to them. The Methodist preachers will all be in attendance upon the session of their Annual Conference at Greensboro, and consequently no Thanksgiving services will be held in their respective charges, and, as a result, the Oxford Orphan Asylum with its 260 orphans will get nothing. Now I write you, and beg you to put your Orphan Asylum Committee to work for us, and let us see what the Masons can do for our Grand Old Institution.

Some of you have already done nobly, and I earnestly pray that every brother may feel the importance of doing his duty now. We will need this help, or I certainly would not ask for it. The Annex to our Boys' Building is about completed, and our Cotton Factory will certainly be built next year, but just now we need help from the brethren. With best wishes always, Yours Fraternally,

B. F. DIXON, Sup't.

Contributions can be left with R. W. Hardie or Z. W. Whitehead.

The Great Celebration.

[Raleigh News and Observer.]

Fayetteville will present the greatest attraction ever known in North Carolina.

There will be more to interest the people; there will be more to recall to memory in after years; there will be more to give pleasure than were ever enjoyed in North Carolina before.

Vance will be there and will speak; and Ransom will make the master effort of his life; and Governor Fowle will represent the State, and Gov. Lee, whose name is so much loved; and dear old chieftain Wade Hampton has promised to come; he will like to be there. He [illegible] he fought in the stre[illegible] of Sherman's bum[illegible] their heels.

And the [illegible] make music. That[illegible] forth a trip to old Cross Creek [illegible] that band and hear their splendid music.

In addition, the town will be decorated with bunting. Nothing like it has ever been seen in North Carolina.

It will be a royal occasion. Patriotism will [illegible] at every pore. Every man, wo[illegible] will feel as if he owned the [illegible] sovereign of the coun[illegible].

Then the story will be told how North Carolina's great men acted in the days that tried men's souls; how they fought for their freedom; how they established their liberties; how they framed their republican laws of government for the State; how they agreed to go into a confederation with the other States; how they were willing to make sacrifices for the Union, but how, when a new Union was proposed under a new form of government, they said, "not so fast; we have our liberties, and we don't mean to give them up to a centralized government. Amend your Constitution. Restrict your national government, and then we will come."

And finally we will be told that nearly every amendment that our people asked for was granted, then our people went in, but not before.

All this will show not only that our people were brave, but that they were wise and prudent.

This story will come from the lips of eloquent orators—North Carolina men—and we will rejoice that the Revolutionary fathers who won the liberties of North Carolina and secured them for us, their posterity, have such orators to tell of their wonderful works. It will be a time of rejoicing and of festivity, made memorable by splendid fireworks, music and oratory, accompanied by every demonstration of good feeling and patriotic ardor.

Concord's Crowning Glory.

[Yadkin Valley News.]

The bagging mill at Concord is now about complete, and will soon be ready to begin operation. It is an immense plant, the main building being, as we learn from the Charlotte News, 126x346 feet, two stories high with basement. It will operate 500 looms for weaving cloth for bags, 15,000 spindles and all the necessary preparatory machinery. It will employ 500 hands and work 20 bales of cotton per day, and will be lighted by electricity. In addition to the main building there are several others used for various purposes and eighty tenement houses for the use of operatives. It is an immense plant, and speaks well for the push and snap of Concord's progressive spirit.—Wilmington Star.

"Push and snap," ah, yes, that is the motive power behind the wheels of progress in all thriving towns throughout the country, We need such a mill at Mount Airy, as well as about twenty more large tobacco factories and other small industrial enterprises.

Hon. Jefferson Davis Sick.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—Hon. Jefferson Davis arrived here to-day on the steamer Leathers. He remained in his state room, where he was visited by his physician, Dr. Chaille, and one or two intimate personal friends. After making careful examination of his patient, Dr. Chaille stated that Mr. Davis has been quite sick at Brierfield, but is now very much improved and there is no cause for alarm. Mr. Davis was removed to the residence of his friend, Mr. J. U. Payne, where he will remain for some days.

The New Discovery.

You have heard your friends and neighbors talking about it. You may yourself be one of the many who know from personal experience just how good a thing it is. If you have ever tried it, you are one of its staunch friends, because the wonderful thing about it is, that when once given a trial, Dr. King's New Discovery ever after holds a place in the house. Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: He positively believes he would have died, had it not been for Electric Bitters.

FROM THE CHRISTIAN ADVOATE

Mr. A. E. Hawkes has gained a national reputation as a practical optician, and his celebrated spectacles and spring eye-glasses are known throughout the United States. We are writing this article with a pair of his new crystalized lenses, and they seem to us as transparent as light itself; and with them the finest print is as clear as in youth.—Editor Christian Advocate.
